

aurigo® PROJECTWORKS

Projectworks is a state of the art, ready to deploy solution for construction project managers and site owners to achieve effective team management.

If you're a developer of capital projects, or a contractor who manages construction sites, you've probably investigated project management software. But have you come across a solution that takes care of all your requirements in an easy to deploy Suite? Chances are your efforts have been in vain!

The most popular solutions aren't designed for construction work, and customization can take forever!! Smaller programs, like schedulers and task managers, are useful for short term requirements, but fail miserably to achieve any noteworthy results.

As a result, most construction project managers are left with no other option but to avail of 'homegrown' solutions, like complicated spreadsheets to carry out their project management needs. Aurigo's Projectworks is a cutting edge cloud-based project collaboration and documentation solution designed by pioneers in the construction industry and experts with years of experience to their credit. Once registered, Projectworks can be instantly implemented to deliver results.

Projectworks is:

- Easy to implement & use: Because it's cloud-based, signing up is all it takes to get started. You'll be guided through the setup process, and using Projectworks effectively in a couple of hours. It's a simple, intuitive program, and backups, upgrades, security, and malware protection are part of the service.
- Aligned to industry practice: The reports and forms in Projectworks have all been built for construction projects - for example, there's a report that tracks change order status. And Projectworks is simple to customize to suit the details of your jobsite.
- Accessible anytime, anywhere: Because Projectworks is available online, it's a perfect collaboration tool. Check reports and confer with any stakeholder, wherever you happen to be - you don't have to be at a desk. You don't even need a computer - Projectworks is accessible on your smartphone or tablet.

- Speeds up project completion: Projectworks is a centralized clearinghouse for construction documents and all the specialized functions of construction project managers. It automates nearly all management processes, which creates massive efficiencies and saves time. When you use Projectworks, your projects will be higher quality, and they'll be completed faster.

As you learn more about Projectworks, you'll find that it's the best-conceived construction project management solution available. And you can try it out for free - you don't have to sign up with a credit card and you don't have to download anything. Just register at www.projectworksonline.com to get access to your free trial, and access to all of Projectworks' powerful modules.
