Avoid project delays with streamlined ROW land acquisition

Getting ready to build a new highway, extend your utility lines, or build a new pipeline? Getting access to the land you need is always contentious. Whether you need just 300 feet of land or 300 parcels, acquiring the land you need is never a simple process. Losing track of paperwork, necessary signatures or negotiation status just makes it more cumbersome.

That's why the Aurigo Masterworks Cloud suite includes a Right of Way product to help cities, counties, states and public agencies manage the end-to-end parcel acquisition process. Starting with surveys and visually mapping each parcel using ESRI ArcGIS, all the way through acquisition by deeds, easements or eminent domain, we help you with regulatory compliance.

Aurigo's Right of Way product is used by customers like the City of Fargo and the City of York to manage the end-to-end land acquisition process. Our product eliminates paper forms with online templates to create leases and other legal documents, enables working from the field with our mobile app, tracks every workflow and app oval, and simplifies reporting on FWA compliance, environmental clearance requirements, compensation payments and project impact analysis.
